

WE ARE CONNECTED By Our Talents...

Eighth grader Parker Laube is a competitive cheerleader with intensive work and training in tumbling. He tumbles between 3-4 times a week on top of his schoolwork. How did he find himself in cheer you might ask? Well, his mom saw him tumbling at home one day when she told him, "You should take classes." and that's pretty much how I got started!" he stated. Parker is not only talented in tumbling but can also be in position during stunting, including being the top flier. On the social media platform, Instagram, the teen tumbler posts videos, photos of himself, stunts, competitions, and flips. He has turned up quite the following on the platform of over 13.5k followers. Here at Cockrill we have several students who compete in competitive cheer and dance. Some of them showcase their talents here at school with our cheerleaders.
